National Health Care Week puts spotlight on care

A hospital is more than a place where people go to heal, it is a part of the community that fosters health and represents hope. From providing treatment and comfort the trust of our patients and our communities.”

The nation’s largest health care event, National Hospital Week dates back to 1921 when to the sick, to welcoming new life into the world, hospitals are central to a healthy and optimistic community. That’s the message sent by the 2012 National Hospital and Health Care Week theme “Making Miracles Happen.”

The event theme is the centerpiece of a campaign aimed at uniting health care facilities across the country during the May 7-13 celebration.

“This special week, first and foremost, is a celebration of people,” Roger Reamer, Chief Executive Officer of Memorial Health Care Systems, said. “We’re extremely proud of each member of our staff and we recognize the important role they play in providing excellent medical care, which in turn builds it was suggested by a magazine editor who hoped a community-wide celebration would alleviate public fears about hospitals. The celebration, launched in Chicago, succeeded in promoting trust and goodwill among members of the public and eventually spread to facilities across the country.
